Global Activism

On Friday May 16th, we were very fortunate to attend an event in Guelph with keynote speaker Craig Kielburger of Free The Children. He was recently on Oprah and CBC and has been an activist since the age of 12 for child labour and providing basic primary education to every child around the world. He discussed about passions in life and how we need to have a passion, a dream to follow and to act on this dream and know that your happiness will evolve as you pursue it.

At Student Reach Event – Key Note Speaker Craig Kielburger from Free The Children

At Seven Shores we have a passion in providing a place where we can educate people locally and internationally on many topics, such as: fair trade, poverty, eco-friendly, hand-made, and different cultures. We hope to bring conversation and inspiration into your home through our products and continue with providing sustainable incomes to impoverished artisans/producers throughout the world.

To think about this summer:

What is your passion in life – how are you going to leave your impact on this earth?
